

<http://www.sbc Baptist Press.org/BPnews.asp?ID=34827>

"The testimony from the people whose children have been radicalized in American mosques is disturbing, and the responses the families received when they complained to the mosques were even more discouraging," said Land, who is one of nine members of the U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom.